Adam Hutt

Junior Full-Stack Web Developer

Junior developer, experienced English teacher and freight forwarder. My career background is Freight Forwarding and most recently teaching English as foreign language. Skilled in using Python, Javascript, Flask and NodeJS to create solutions and problem-solve on both the front-end or back-end of complex projects. Experienced in database architecture, cloud deployment and confident in working on web development projects in a team-environment or individually. My unique personal and professional experiences have taught me to adapt to challenges in a positive and productive way.
